

REACH regulation (EC) 1907/2006 compliance statement

(Last updated Feb 23rd, 2026)

Eska is committed to full compliance with the requirements of the REACH Regulation and actively monitors regulatory developments to ensure continued conformity. The company undergoes independent third-party assessments for its obligations under REACH Article 33 (communication requirements for articles containing Substances of Very High Concern – SVHC).

Audit Conclusion

Independent audits confirm that Eska products do not contain SVHC substances in concentrations above 0,1% and therefore meet the requirements of REACH legislation.

Compliance Basis

- Eska does not conduct SVHC testing of every product unit, as this is not technically feasible.
- Recycled fiber is considered part of the same substance identity profile as cellulose, which is exempt from REACH registration and communication requirements. Therefore, Eska's raw materials do not require comprehensive SVHC screening.
- No SVHC substances are intentionally used in the manufacture of Eska paper and board products. However, due to the use of post-consumer recovered fiber, unintended trace levels of certain SVHC substances may be present.
- Eska has established agreements with suppliers to:
 - Maintain Material Safety Data Sheets (MSDS) in accordance with REACH, including relevant CAS/EINECS numbers.
 - Provide information regarding (pre-)registration status of substances used in additives supplied to Eska.

Conclusion

Based on supplier declarations, internal controls, and third-party assessments, Eska considers it highly unlikely that any SVHC substances, including those listed in Annex II, are present in its products at concentrations exceeding 0,1%.
